Call for abstracts for the European Congress EMS2017

Share your research findings! We invite authors to submit abstracts for poster presentation at the European Emergency Medical Services Congress, EMS2017 in Copenhagen.

Through innovation, involvement and a creative approach, this international congress will provide the latest knowledge, showcase the newest equipment and demonstrate best practices in the area of emergency care: From the citizen's emergency call, through the emergency medical dispatch process, the pre-hospital care by doctors, paramedics and nurses and finally the emergency care in the emergency department.

Share your research findings and expertise with your colleagues
With an expected number of attendees close to 1.500, EMS2017 is a large educational and scientific event in the international EMS community. The target audience of the congress is researchers, pre-hospital and emergency health care professionals such as medical directors, physicians, paramedics, dispatchers, nurses and management.

Participants interested in giving an oral or a poster presentation are invited to submit an abstract. The submission will be open until 15 January 2017.

All accepted papers will be published in international peer review. The best abstracts will receive an award from the Falck Foundation. Furthermore, a stand-up science session will be held and selected presenters of scientific abstracts will be invited to speak.

Interested in knowing more?
The EMS2017 Scientific Abstract Committee will assess all the submitted abstracts. Please use the template with the following five headings:
- Title
- Aim
- Methods
- Results
- Conclusion

For more details and submission guidelines, please visit www.ems2017.org

Please note!
The abstract submission will close on 15 January 2017. (24.00 hours CET)

You will receive information about acceptance of your abstract for presentation in the middle of February, and in due time to receive the early bird discount.